It's important to recycle unwanted electronics that have a circuit board or a cathode ray tube (CRT). Examples include:

- Televisions
- Computers: central processing units (CPUs), monitors and laptops
- Computer keyboards, speakers, printers and other peripherals
- VCRs, DVD players and stereo systems
- Fax machines
- Audio and video equipment like video game systems and MP3 players

Before choosing a recycler, ask about hours, fees, types of electronics accepted and where they are sent for recycling.
